ODISSeA is imparting knowledge, an act of love. Organ donation is giving life to another person. It is an act that requires groups of people helping one another achieve the donation process. This is symbolized by the hands of different colors, holding life (the heart) that will be given to the person needing a second chance at life. It is set on the sail pattern of a vinta, a traditional boat in the southern part of the Philippines. This symbolizes the journey that ODISSeA participants undergo in order to fulfill the donation process.
